Business

Show & Tell

The meeting began with a 'show & tell' session where members showed different items that they have recently completed. Tony showed and described how he completed a segmented bowl. There are 2,336 different pieces of wood in the bowl. Martin described how turned a beautiful spalted birch bowl, Ken had ash platter with an attached bowl and Ron described how he turned utensils containers using a large spade bit.

Business

Ken and Ron recently attended the Quesnel Guild meeting where they learned that their guild is creating and giving wig stands to the local Cancer Society. The Art Gallery is running low on wood turned products, members who have extra inventory are encourage to place their products at the Art Gallery.

Art will give a demonstration next month on how to safely fall a tree. Bob conducted another successful wood draw.

Demonstration

Tim described and showed different mediums that can be turned, everything from fishing flies cast in resin, coffee beans cast in resin to counter tops. At the end of the demonstration the pen used in the process was given away. Thank you Tim!
